

REPTILE Adventure

Animals you can wrap your brain around

Easton Library
Wednesday, July 24
1:30 PM

- A nature show with an overview of amphibians and reptiles.
- A variety of animals from all over the globe and different habitats will be viewed.
- Topics include what the animals eat, how they find their food, how they avoid predators, and what related animals can be found in New York.
- Every Reptile Adventure presentation involves allowing the audience members to touch and feel the animals.
- At least one animal, usually a turtle or lizard, will be fed either insect prey or fruit

This program is sponsored by the Friends of the Easton Library.
